

Congratulations to North West Community Services

Spontaneous Volunteers Training - be a part of it

A proud Chamber member making a real impact in our region.

We are delighted to acknowledge North West Community Services for securing a NSW Government grant under the Supporting Spontaneous Volunteers Program. This funding will allow them to deliver free training to 100 spontaneous volunteers, equipping locals with practical skills in first aid, sandbagging, and emergency response — all delivered locally in Riverstone.

This recognition is well-earned. During the 2022 floods, North West Community Services working with the Chamber led a powerful, coordinated volunteer effort that provided immediate, on-the-ground support to those in need, exemplifying a shining example of what it means to show up for your community.

Now, they're inviting business owners, staff, and residents to be part of this next chapter.

As a Chamber, we know that local business has a vital role to play in emergency response and long-term community resilience. Our economy is not strong until our community is strong. Getting involved in this training safeguards the networks, people, and places that make our region thrive.

We strongly encourage our members to take part in this opportunity for their teams, their families, and their own development.

Training will run from July to December 2025.
